

Chef Danielle Turner

Chef, Cooking Instructor, Writer, Food Stylist

Chef Danielle Turner knows food and entertaining. As a personal chef, cooking instructor, food writer, and food stylist, Chef Danielle is an expert in all things culinary. Whether it's effortless entertaining, making classic culinary techniques accessible to beginning cooks, or writing about food in all its glory, Chef Danielle has the skill, experience and personality to bring food to life. Thousands of students have enjoyed learning practical cooking skills from Chef Danielle during the many recreational cooking classes she has taught at venues like L'Academie de Cuisine, Anne Arundel Community College, Whole Foods, Sur La Table and Williams-Sonoma.

As a food writer, Chef Danielle has penned feature articles for The Food Network Holiday Survival Guide and The Food Network Summer Grilling Guide. She has been a regular contributor to and guest blogger at a host of publications and websites.

An accomplished food stylist, Chef Danielle has styled live cooking events, television commercials, national television cooking shows, satellite media tours, and cookbooks. She was the food stylist for seasons one and two of the national, PBS cooking show, Pati's Mexican Table and the food stylist and recipe tester for Made with Love: The Meals on Wheels Family Cookbook and her food styling tips have been featured in Woman's World Magazine. She has worked as a freelance food stylist for the Food Network and a host of public relations firms and publishing houses. A graduate of the professional Culinary Career Training Program at L'Academie de Cuisine, Danielle lives and eats adventurously in the suburbs of Washington, DC with her husband and daughter.

Chef Danielle's unique take on food and dining appeals to cooks and diners of all skill levels. Whether you're looking for a gourmet, multi-course dining experience, a fun and casual cooking class, an entertaining cooking demo or original recipes that will whet any appetite, Chef Danielle Turner will bring your culinary vision to life!
